

I would like to request that the FCC not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. I have been listed under this privacy protection program for most of the past year and have found that once "out-of-control" marketing intrusions have now become tolerable. We once received dozens of calls monthly, some awakening me or interfering with our evenings. We can tolerate the very few we now receive. I prefer not to receive calls from any company, even if I have done business with them in the past. I had rather initiate the contact when I am ready.

I have encouraged many of my relatives and acquaintances to use this program. It is one of the most effective plans I have found to help us restore some peace to an increasingly stressful life. Thank you for NOT changing something good that has been implemented and is available to us to use or not to use. If, in the future, I choose to receive these calls, I am free to remove my name from the list. Thank you for your consideration.
